Final Approach – Mission Stories of 2018

Unable to make the 5-hour drive to chemo, Sylvia needed help getting to and from her treatment. Angel Flight West's supporters and our volunteer pilots helped her get regular flights from Benton City, WA to Seattle! Sylvia can get the cancer care she needs in Seattle while continuing to live in her beloved home.

One-year-old Nolan has cysts on his lungs, and there’s only one surgeon in all of the United States who removes this type of cyst in infants. He’s at Rocky Mountain Hospital for Children, a long way from Nolan’s home in Hillsboro, OR. Nolan can’t fly commercially because of his fragile immune system. AFW’s volunteer pilots flew him to Denver, so he could get the life-saving care he needed.
